

Hello Basal, as cars guys ourselves, we need to send you out our new retail TopCoat® Formula 11 Polish. This is the next evolution, not a replacement, of your current TopCoat® sealant/polish. Its easy also, but more of a polish approach as you indicated. Formula 11 is incredible NANO technology (new buzz word these days as we've been NANO the whole time with our entire glass-like TopCoat® product line) but provides a thicker more polish feel, plus helps fill in many of the micro-scratches paints inevitably get from just wiping down from micro-towels or washing (try our PolyWash® for an auto wash - all our products bond and work together as a system). I'm like you, there is much joy in polishing your fine automobile, period, especially on a beautiful Sunday (although I had a terrible auto accident 9 years ago, no fault of my own, preventing me from such enjoyments as I'm limited to a wheelchair most of my day) but I still get great satisfaction from doing just this. Building layers is a great way with TopCoat®, plus the benefits we offer over any other product from glass protection to plastic restoration, door jams, ease of maintenance, engine to rim dirt /dust repel, depth of image, is superior and easy with no white wax residue, and NO silicone greasy, sticky mess. Thank you again and I will be sure to keep you up with our new coatings. We have 2 other professional glass sealants we can't sell retail, but can have professionally applied by an automotive shop on your behalf.....Scott L. Smith - Pres. I'm now excited to get you a sample of TopCoat® Formula 11 though! Enjoy....
